The 100% Unofficial Quick Guide

Introduction

Some things at Junior Eurovision are constant. Talented young performers from different nations coming together to share in the joy of music and take part in a bit of friendly competition...that's been a part of the Contest's ethos since its first running in 2003. However, if the year 2020 has taught us anything, it's to expect the unexpected, and that flexibility and change are key in making things work. Junior Eurovision 2020, while being officially held in Warsaw, Poland, will be brought to us from television studios all over Europe, keeping this year's contestants and crew safely distanced from each other.

In a way, using technology and implementing it across borders during times of global strife brings the lessons of Marcel Bezençon, creator of the Eurovision Song Contest, firmly back into focus. Whether it was the establishment of an event that brought nations together in the years following a devastating war, or finding a way to safely adapt to a world dealing with a pandemic, we take the technological and logistical tools we have at our disposal and use them to create bridges.

On Sunday November 29th we have twelve artists who will give the performance of a lifetime to a global audience. As so many performers have preceded them in years past have said...the show must go on.

Differences between JESC and ESC:

The contest has been through many changes in its eighteen years, and while there are similarities between the Eurovision Song Contest and Junior Eurovision Song Contest, there are some very distinct differences too:

- Junior Eurovision host nations are selected via a bidding system, rather than automatically awarding hosting duties to the previous year's winner.
- Supporting vocals may be included on the backing track; they do not need to be performed live. However, all lead vocals must be performed live. Like at Eurovision, instrumental arrangements are all included on the backing track.
- The song must be sung in any of the national languages of the country it is representing, although up to 40% of the lyrics are allowed in another language. Artists should have a citizenship or residency of the country they represent.
- The song must last a minimum of 2 minutes 30 seconds, while there is no minimum length at the Eurovision Song Contest. Both contests set a maximum song length of three minutes.
- Junior Eurovision's score is tabulated by a combination of national juries and an online public vote open to viewers from around the globe.

Participation

Active member broadcasters of the European Broadcasting Union are permitted to take part in the contest, though the show has been screened in several non-participating countries, and contest participation may be extended to Associate Members on an invitation-only basis, as in the cases of Kazakhstan.

Out of the thirty-eight countries that have participated at least once, only 2 countries – Belarus & The Netherlands – have competed in every Junior Eurovision so far. As of 2020, Georgia is the most successful nation at the Junior Eurovision Song Contest with three wins and two 2nd place finishes. Russia has won twice with two runner-up placements, Belarus has two victories and one 2nd place, and Malta and Poland each have two wins in the bank as well.

2020 Host City: Warsaw, Poland

While the primary show, including interval acts, voting sequences, and other segments, will be broadcast from Studio 5 at TVP Headquarters in Warsaw, many of this year's contestants have opted to have their performances recorded in studios in their home nations. Malta, Serbia, Ukraine, and home nation Poland all recorded their entries on site in Poland. All broadcasters were provided with plans and technical specs for the Warsaw stage, in order to create a level playing field for all contestants.

2020 Hosts

Rafał Brzozowski

After finding success on Polish musical competition shows like Szansa na sukces and The Voice of Poland, Rafał has had continued success as a singer. With his song "Sky Over Europe", he was runner-up in Poland's 2017 Eurovision National Final, and served as a member of the Polish Jury for Eurovision 2019. He is the host of the TVP game show Jaka to melodia? as well as The Voice Senior.

Ida Nowakowska-Herndon

Coming into the public eye as a finalist on the first series of the Polish edition of So You Think You Can Dance, Ida Nowakowska has been active on Polish screens and stages since her pre-teen years. While completing her studies at the University of California, Los Angeles, she worked as a dancer for Bruno Mars and Cee Lo Green. She's the host of the Polish version of Bake Off Junior, a presenter on TVP's Question for Breakfast, a judge on the talent show Dance Dance Dance, and starting in 2021, she'll be the host of The Voice Kids. Ida also had the honor of hosting last year's Junior Eurovision Song Contest, held in Gliwice, Poland.

Born in Łódź and raised in Warsaw, Małgorzata is an accomplished broadcaster, having hosted numerous entertainment and sports programs.
